Introduction

International consultancy specialising in research sourcing & supply chain engagement across the Nuclear industry.

Capabilities

An experienced nuclear supply chain specialist who supported the UK Government with the identification, integration, development and promotion of the UK supply chain for new nuclear build projects as well as decommissioning.

Working closely with the then Department for Business Innovation and Skills I led relationship engagements with tier 1 and 2 companies to identify work packages and linked these to the supply chain to generate opportunities – helping to ensure the supply chain were ready and able to meet pre-qualification requirements as well as wider tendering expectations. The work also ensured supplier development to provide confidence on the ability to deliver to time, quality and cost.
